This is the packet your board gets by the 5th business day, every month. Lime boxes are annotations explaining what to look at; they are not in the real thing. Every number in the real packet is a link to the general ledger line and the document behind it.

hey's summary for the board

September closed on time. Cash is up $2,500 month over month. Expenses are $3,865 under budget year to date, mostly repairs and irrigation. Three things need a decision:

1. Pool service invoice AP-889 ($640) is 28% above the 12-month average. The difference is a $142 chlorine shock treatment. It sits in the approval queue with the PDF attached.
2. Unit 3 ($1,240, 94 days) has a lien recorded and crossed 90 days. Attorney referral needs a board vote under the collection policy; it is on the November agenda.
3. Asphalt seal and stripe ($18,500) is due in 2027 per the reserve study. hey will request three bids in March so the board can vote in April.

ANNOTATION
The summary is written by hey from the ledger and the month's activity, then reviewed by your coordinator. It is the page most boards read first, and often the only one they need to.

ANNOTATION

Operating and reserve funds are shown separately because your governing documents and most state statutes require it. The reserve line ties to the funding page (page 9). Prepaid assessments are a liability: owners who paid ahead are owed the service.

ANNOTATION

ANNOTATION

A reconciliation that ends in zero, with the outstanding items listed, is the single best test of whether anyone is actually watching the money. Ask your current provider for last month's. The reserve account reconciliation follows the same format.

ANNOTATION

Owner names are on the board version, not this sample. Every stage follows the collection policy your board adopted; hey drafts the notice, a person reviews and sends it, and the fee posts to the owner's ledger, not the association's expense line.

ANNOTATION

Nothing is paid without two board approvals in the portal. hey reads each invoice, codes it, checks it against the contract and the 12-month trend, and writes the note you see. The board decides in about a minute per invoice.
